Bunnies Invade Sacramento 's Art Scene; Scion sponsors "Living with Fur"

By mercouri -- September 09, 2010
at: A Bitchin' Space

Get ready for a the latest invasion to hop the streets of Sacramento – rabbits. That's right, A Bitchin' Space art gallery is doing it again. Notorious artist and gallery owner Gale Hart once again gives animals a voice at A Bitchin' Space's upcoming show, Living with Fur. This trailblazing show will offer crowds the opportunity to experience dozens of talented artists' surprising contributions, as rabbits become their creative muses. While these fluffy little bunnies may give you a warm fuzzy feeling, there may be a darker side to these little creatures lives... and if so, you can be sure Living with Fur will challenge our perceptions of Flopsy, Mopsy, and Cottontail! The Harlem Renaissance was a cultural movement that spanned the 1920s and 1930s. It grew out of the changes that had taken place in the African American community since the abolition of slavery. Characterizing the Harlem Renaissance was an overt racial pride that came to be represented in the idea of the New Negro, who through intellect and production of literature, art, and music could challenge the pervading racism and stereotypes to promote progressive or socialist politics, and racial and social integration. The creation of art and literature would serve to "uplift" the race. Read more »
